

BACHELOR OF COMPUTER APPLICATION (BCA)

Programme Outcome

The students will be able to:

- Learn programming languages including C, C++, HTML, SQL, DBMS, and networking.
- Information is also offered on the newest advancements in IT and communication systems, as well as a variety of computer applications.
- Acquire knowledge and abilities in management, organisation, and communication in addition to computer and information technology.
- They have a strong foundation in the engineering approach to software development.
- They learn how to use the right learning techniques to acquire and apply new knowledge as needed.

Programme Specific Outcome

- Prepare yourself for the lucrative and employable profession of computer applications.
- Continue your education in computer science and applications.
- Start your own business in the Indian and international software market.
- Comply with industrial standards' requirements